Long time no visit with you and its no wonder. The closing of school and the graduation of R. Paul from grammar school has had me in such a tizzy that I'm surprised today that I can look back on the past few weeks without getting hysterical. All I can say is that if grammar school graduation is any harbinger of the events that will take place with high school and college graduation, I feel compelled to take both of them out of school right now and urge them to become first class illiterates.

I'm sure the situation has been the same in your house if you had any kind of a graduate around and if so, your dilemma might be lightened if you learned some of the harrowing experiences I had with the preparations for our auspicious event. In an expansive mood sometimes last January R. Paul said that he wanted to have a graduation prom with his best friend Billy Simrell. When he got the go-ahead to make plans for the event, it seems to me that he stayed on the telephone constantly for all those months talking about the dance, who would escort whom, and even talked to girls about what they would wear. That went on from January until the night before the dance and if you don't think that got a little monotonous at times, I can tell you it did.

Estelle Simrell and I decided that Friday night before graduation would be a good time to have it so that we could rest up Saturday and then take on the graduation on Sunday. A small complication of Doris Wiley's piano recital interfered with that date so we had to change it to this past Saturday. That's when we should have called the whole thing off, but we didn't.

I think the boys started dressing for the event about the middle of the afternoon and the dance wasn't until seven. R. Paul is one of those fellows who goes all out when it comes to dressing for an important event and he got carried away with the whole business. When I say all out I mean just that. Every drawer, every closet, every inch of his room was all out to make like a tornado hit it. Ozie and I have never been able to figure out what he was looking for, because we had his suit, tie, shirt, socks and shoes all sprung up for the "big deal" and all he had to do was get into them.

But it is obvious that we hadn't put out enough. When Paul drove him to Union City to pick up his date (and that long distance dating is a story in itself) I went into his room and I pondered seriously about calling the wrecker service. Here's what I found among other things! In his zeal to find something in the closet he dropped a box of small peas and dried corn that he uses in his pea-shooter. He bothered not one bit to pick them up and I don't blame him. It took me three hours to pick them up myself. Mixed with the peas was a box of bee-bees that dropped on the floor and if you want to give anybody a slow death, ask them to pick up bee-bees from a 12 x 12 room and separate them from peas and corn. It ain't possible!

He obviously didn't like the Sox we selected and undoubtedly tried on every pair he had and ceremoniously threw them around the room. We'll never get them matched again. He got himself a right sharp looking crew cut and employed every manner of hair tonic to have every strand of hair stand up at the proper angle. He took no trouble to put them away, just put them around on his desk, bed and dresser after each interesting experiment. He accomplished his mission I am sure, 'cause he looked all right.

The dance, from all indications was a success for the nearly 60 young people who attended and as I looked at all of them looking so pretty and so handsome I couldn't help but wonder if their rooms looked like R. Paul's. Hope not.

Anyhow on Sunday morning we had to be at church services for the graduates at Hickman at eight o'clock, which meant getting up at six thirty after getting into bed at midnight. For me, that's torture. The lovely sermon and the impressive services were more than

The Fulton Country Club with its beautiful golf course, swimming pool and clubhouse is the mecca for young folks of all ages at all times of the day. Just before the ladies took off for the weekly round of golf the photographer found these lovely lassies around the pool. On the front row left to right are Vicki Vowell and Cindy Homra. On the back row are Susan Walker, Terry Thomas, Judy Hoodenpyle and Nancy Treas.

But sports is not the all consuming interest in the lives of many little girls out of school for the summer. The News photographer couldn't resist a photo of three little girls sitting under a big shade tree on West State Line playing dolls. With their doll wardrobes carefully laid out on a soft blanket on the lawn these three little girls dressed up their Barbie dolls. They are left to right Marianna Weeks, Mary Jo Westpheling and Carmen Weeks.

By Karen Dublin

A pretty, dark-haired Fulton girl, Miss Judy Page, will soon be joining the ranks of the American Red Cross as a Social Worker in the Southeastern states area. A recent graduate of Lambuth College, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmi Page of Vine Street.

Judy's work will involve helping people through the Red Cross facilities and she says that she is sure she will enjoy it. She first became interested in social work while she was a student at Lambuth. She had previously been taking a straight liberal arts course, but switched to Sociology and Psychology because she enjoyed working with people.

This past winter, a Red Cross official came to the Lambuth campus and talked to several of the students about positions that were open for workers in various fields. Judy, along with several others, filled out an application and was called to Atlanta, Georgia in March for personal interviews. Later, she was notified of her acceptance.

Judy will leave Fulton on June

10 for Jackson, Tennessee, where she will meet another Lambuth graduate going into the same field. From there, they will fly to Montgomery, Alabama for a three-week training period. Later on in the summer she will probably go to Virginia for some further training. She says that she does not expect to be sent overseas because it takes "lots of experience and training first".

Judy has always been active in school affairs, both at Fulton High, where she graduated in 1957, and at Lambuth, where she received her B. A. Degree Monday night.

At Fulton High, Judy participated in many of the campus organizations including the cheerleading squad and was a class officer. She was also chosen by her class to serve as a member of the football royalty.

Included among her many activities at Lambuth were membership in the Psychology Club, the Executive Committee, the SCA and the Lantern staff. She was also the secretary of her junior and senior classes and co-chairman of the All-College Social Committee for two years.

Combs Appoints Wilburn Allen As Magistrate

Governor Bert Combs has announced the appointment of Wilburn Allen, Fulton, as Magistrate of District One, Fulton County. He will fill the unexpired term of the late C. D. (Spud) Edwards who died unexpectedly a few weeks before the primary election.

Allen, an employee of the United Fruit Company, will hold the office for the remainder of this year.

Area Cities Seek To Stamp Out Bust Rackets

Chamber of Commerce officials from six area cities have devised a "warning system" association to protect merchants from bad check artists, bums, etc. The association members will exchange information on rackets, confidence games and other crimes that may be operating in the area.

The six cities as announced by Joe Treas, Fulton Chamber of Commerce president, are Hickman, Clinton, Mayfield, Murray, Paducah and Fulton.

Wyatt Names Four Area Citizens To New Industrial Development Council

Four prominent area citizens were today named to the newly formed Industrial Development Council, Lt. Gov. Wilson W. Wyatt revealed today. Hoyt Barnett of Hickman, John Sullivan and R. H. (Bob) White of Fulton and Henry Alexander of Clinton were appointed to serve in an advisory capacity to the 17-member Economic Development Commission of which News Publisher Paul Westpheling of Fulton is a member.

The new appointees, all active in the industrial development of their communities will meet with Mr. Wyatt sometime in June to map plans for an extensive program to bring more industry to Kentucky and to the area.

Mr. Barnett is the newly elected state representative from Fulton and Hickman counties and a prominent businessman of Hickman. He has served actively in civic affairs of Hickman and the county and is vitally interested in the industrial development of the area he will serve in the General Assembly.

Mr. Sullivan, is a past president of the Fulton-South Fulton Chamber of Commerce and now chairman of the Twin Cities Development Association. He is plant superintendent at the Ferry-Morse Seed Company.

Mr. White, a long time advocate of industrial development is general manager of the Fulton Ice Plant and an enthusiastic member of many civic clubs in Kentucky. He was a former director of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and held many important posts in local civic clubs.

Mr. Alexander is vice-president and cashier of the First National Bank of Clinton. He, too, is active in the industrial progress of Hickman County and West Kentucky.

In appointing the members from this area Mr. Wyatt said to the new members:

"The Economic Development Commission has decided to establish a Kentucky Development Council and has authorized me to invite you to become a member of the council. This is a new organization and will be an important part of Kentucky's economic development program. It is the belief of the commission that significant representation of Kentucky's leading citizens from the various parts of Kentucky will be of great assistance in helping the Commonwealth achieve its objective for a broadly based advance in employment opportunities in our State through the development of both our agriculture and our industry. The council will constitute channels of commerce through which the Economic Development Council will, from time to time, report the progress being made in the various programs affecting the economic development of the Commonwealth. In addition members of the council will be asked to make suggestions to the commission for improvements both locally and statewide.

"The present plans call for an annual meeting of the commission with the first meeting probably to be held June 29 and 30 at Frankfort. The meeting will be the focal point of consideration of the entire economic development program in all of its aspects. "As soon as final arrangements for the annual meeting have been made, I shall send to you a program outlining the details of the meeting. In the meantime, I hope you will flag your calendar for these dates. From the initial plans which have been discussed, I feel confident that the annual meeting will be a session of interest and importance. I hope very much that I will have the expression of your willingness to serve as a member of this council."

State Offering $10 For Each Story Accepted As Original and Correct

The Division of Tourist and Travel Promotion of the Kentucky Department of Public Information is offering $10 each for original stories about Kentucky suitable for use in a new radio series. The series is heard each day over Radio Station WFUL.

The radio series for Kentucky stations, "Exploring Kentucky," features anecdotes and stories about Kentucky people and places, each about one minute in length. These are the requirements for the story search:

1. The story idea and a brief synopsis of not more than 25 words should be submitted first.
2. If the story is not already in the Division's files, the entrant will be asked to submit it in full—not less than 250 or more than 350 words in length. Complete stories should not be sent until requested.

3. All stories must be the original writing of the person submitting them. They must not be copied from copyrighted books or articles. Entrants will be asked to sign a release for their use and a certification that they are the original writers.
4. Stories should have dramatic impact or an unusual twist. The Division is looking for stories which caused things to happen, stories with catch endings, the believe-it-or-not and strange-as-it-may-seem type.

The State reserves full rights to all material accepted and reserves the right to revise and rewrite all copy.

Story ideas as described in item 1. should be submitted in writing to Mrs. John W. Beauchamp, Jr., the Mullican Company, 310 West Liberty, Louisville 2, Ky.

Entries Limited For Ken-Tenn's Golf Tournament

Entries for the Ken-Tenn Invitational Golf Tournament to be held at the Fulton Country Club this summer will be limited to the first 100 golfers who sign up. Invitations will be sent this week to golfers at the various Country Clubs in the surrounding area.

Local golfers who wish to enter will be able to sign up at the country club and may also sign up for any friends or relatives whom they want invitations sent to.

The two-day 36 hole tournament will be held at the local club on July 1 and 2 and an entry fee of $10.00 is required. There will be numerous prizes and trophies awarded.

VW-1 VETS MEET

Forestry Awards Again Available To Area Farms

The Tom Wallace Farm Forestry Awards are again being offered to farmers of Kentucky and Southern Indiana by the Courier-Journal, the Louisville Times and WHAS, Inc. These awards are designed to spotlight the increasing importance of an active farm forestry program in the area.

The grand prize of $500 will go to the farmer whose forestry program is judged most complete. A second prize of $200 will also be offered. The 1961 Improvement Award of $200 will go to the farmer who has made the greatest improvement on his woodland during the contest year. Second prize is $100.

Entry blanks may be obtained from the county agent, forester, bankers, Soil Conservation District Supervisor, or by writing the Public Service Department of the Courier-Journal or the Times. Entries should be submitted before midnight, September 9, 1961.

The Polio Is Upon Us! Have You Taken The Urgent Precaution To Keep This Disease Out of Your Life?

The polio season is fast approaching and with it the horrible fact that incidents of polio are increasing with each passing year. With every occasion of disaster, it is not uncommon for the persons not involved to think, "it couldn't happen to me." Yet, all of us know, that when tragedy strikes it is no respecter of class or age; so it is with the greatest of urgency that we impress upon you the fact that polio can strike suddenly and tragically, and it might strike in your home.

We think that the editorial in this week's Courier-Journal expresses our deep concern for the hazards of the oncoming polio season and we hope that after reading it you will make every effort to take the necessary precaution to keep this dread disease out of your home and your lives.

The editorial follows:

THE POLIO SEASON is upon us again, and the grim statistics serve to remind us that Kentucky is still not secure against an epidemic after more than five years of the Salk vaccine. State health authorities warned recently that the percentage of those inoculated against polio is dangerously low.

For the past three years the number of polio cases in Jefferson County and in the state have been rising. Statewide there were 88 cases in 1958; 113 in 1959, and 165 in 1960. Kentucky was one of the few states in the nation reporting a polio epidemic last year—21 cases in the Campbellsville area. The danger signals are already up this year. Fourteen cases have been reported in the state so far this year compared with six in the corresponding period last year. In Jefferson County the rate has been climbing for the last three years at this rate: 17 cases in 1958; 19 in 1959, and 25 in 1960.

Unfortunately, Kentucky does not have a compulsory immunization law for polio as it has had for years for smallpox. Therefore, the percentage of immunization depends upon a combination of individual common sense and periodic campaigns to increase the use of the Salk vaccine. In this connection, we applaud the announcement of a massive campaign next month to increase the immunization rate in Jefferson County. Sponsored by the City-County Health Department with the co-operation of the Jefferson County Medical Society and other groups, the campaign will be the first of its kind launched here. Some 30,000 shots will be made available free in the month of June. The extent of the campaign becomes readily apparent when one considers that so far this year only 6,000 shots have been given through the Health Department. Moreover, in the campaign starting next Thursday, the shots will be carried directly to selected neighborhoods. There will be no age restrictions. The idea is to cover entire families. Some may have had one or more shots but have not completed the series. The campaign, then, represents a push toward maximum protection as well as a beginning for those who have had no shots. The selected neighborhoods will be used as a base of operations, but anyone, regardless of whether his residence is in the immediate neighborhood, will be eligible for the free shots each Thursday in June.

We urge everyone who has not yet had the full series of shots to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the campaign. In addition to the direct benefits, the drive should dramatize the need for immunization at this time, and spur those who don't go to the special clinics to go to their private physicians for shots. Furthermore, we hope the campaign here will set an example that will be followed on a smaller scale, elsewhere in Kentucky.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

Begin Early!

ONE OF THE oldest stories in the field of education tells of the mother who asked a child psychologist when she should start training and educating her child. "How old is the child?" he asked. "Two years old," she replied. "You have already lost two years," he answered.

This story is a good reminder that parents must begin to educate their children very early. The physical needs of feeding and changing a baby seem so important that they almost hide the more important needs of personal love and training.

But why educate so early? After all, school starts this job when the child is very young. The purpose of education is to form Christ in the child, to make him a true follower of Christ. Christ came for men to follow Him, and this is done by following the example he set. He says Himself: I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life.

He is the Way to God. He is the Truth which contains all truth. He is the Life that men must lead.

WHEN A CHILD is young, it does not have full use of its reason. During this time it acts and guides itself by instinct, and especially by imitation. The child's first ideas, and first emotions are imitations of its parents' speech and actions. All children are mimics; what a child sees, it will do. A parent's smile of approval means that it has done something good; a frown tells the child that its actions are not good.

It is through mimicry that parents must educate the child. Young children must be taught to say prayers and imitate actions of kneeling, folding their hands—actions which have no meaning except that the parents approve, and, what is greater, that the parents do these things.

Gradually, as the child develops in intelligence, parents must explain the meaning of these religious practices. Story books, pictures, and records are useful to help the child become aware of religion.

NOT JUST THE MIND, but also the will must be guided. It is by the will that the child turns towards God or away from Him. Only by showing the child what is good and what is bad can it get a proper scale of values. Again this is best done by giving the child the right things to imitate.

The will must be trained by habits which are acquired by repeated actions. Children forget easily, and parents must have the patience to help them form good habits. In this way the child will grow in virtue, for virtue is nothing more than a good habit.

THE GOAL of education is to form Christ in the child. Christ's standards and virtues are huge goals to attain; it will take a whole lifetime. That is why it is necessary to guide the child from earliest youth in order to make him a responsible Christian.

100 Years Ago This Week

An Historical review of THE CIVIL WAR DAY-BY-DAY (Material is from publication of exactly one hundred years ago; original wording from references in the Library of Congress, Washington. Reporting in the papers was usually very one-sided; we seek to be fair in coverage and preserve a national balance. . . . ED).

BY WILLIAM H. McHENRY

By William H. McHenry
First Week in June

June of 1861, and the first big battle of the Civil War was only another six weeks in the future. It was a time of "build-up", and a time of rumor and exaggeration. The nation was divided, the states had taken sides, North and South. Virginia was firmly for the Confederacy, Maryland was less firmly for the Union, Kentucky was striving for neutrality and would not permit either side to use the soil of Kentucky. In Missouri, the people were struggling for a decision . . . it would go to the North, but not easily. There would be fighting in Missouri during all of that year.

Arkansas was calling men to defend her border against invaders from the North. Every State, North and South, was raising more soldiers than could be equipped. There was an unbelievable quality about the affair. Few people believed there would really be a war . . . each was sure that the other side would back down.

Confederate forces were building-up in Northern Virginia, and on the Yorktown peninsula. The Virginia forces set up a battery at Aquia Creek just a few miles below Washington on the Potomac.

On June 3 two Federal gunboats, the Pawnee and the Freeborn, fired six hundred shells at the Confederate works. Northern papers claimed that " . . . the explosion of one shell caused many casualties . . . many litters were in use removing the dead and injured . . . the rebels left their ruined work and set fire to the buildings etc."

Southern papers denied any casualties, claiming that the gunboats had been hit, and that a Southern observer in Washington had seen many bodies being removed from the ruined gunboats.

Claims and denials were rather normal, perhaps. It was impossible for the Civil War to get underway without plenty of both. For instance, by June of 1861, it had been officially reported that during the bombardment of Ft. Sumter, no one was killed on either side. Northern papers said this was not so, that really " . . . 160 Confederates had been killed. Their bodies were loaded on flatboats, taken up the river to Potter's Field, and buried in trenches like so much cordwood. Their relatives were told that the men had been sent to other posts."

The separation of the two sections of America was causing some business upheavals. Many hardware companies had been doing all their business with Southerners. These companies could not collect their bills, and after Ft. Sumter they could no longer deliver to the South. Many firms faced business failure.

The Federal army was at last in full-swing for preparation for war . . . a short and quick one, everyone thought. (Bull Run would change that feeling.)

Cheesemakers in northern Ohio asked the government to " . . . give the army regular cheese rations. The South had been buying most of the Ohio cheese, and the separation of the sections had cut off this trade," said the cheesemakers. "This has proven hard to the cheese farmer." (Modern, isn't it?)

In North Carolina all the free negroes, according to the Northern papers: "Had been conscripted to dig fortifications north of Ft. Caswell." (North Carolina was busy building Ft. Fisher to protect Wilmington.)

Papers in Virginia reported that there were: "At Manassas Junction between two and three thousand troops, another eight thousand men scattered along the road to within seven miles of Fairfax."

And there were, near Yorktown, 4,000 Confederate troops. Within a week there would be fighting in that area . . . what is called the "first battle . . . Big Bethel."

Events were shaping up for the beginning of the Civil War.

Senator Douglas died, and the published accounts of his death gave a good idea of the medical knowledge of the time. (Half trained surgeons would soon be called on to give their rough services to more than a million wounded during the four years of fighting.)

Said the papers of Senator Douglas's last illness: "He died of a primary rheumatism, typhoid in character, ulcerated sore throat, torpor of the liver, constipation followed by a jaundice condition, and poisoning of the blood which prostrated his nervous condition."

IC Officials Studying Possibility Of Merger

The Illinois Central Railroad is studying the possibility of merging with other railroads.

A story in the Wall Street Journal quoted Wayne A. Johnston, president of the railroad, as declining to name any road with which the IC might merge.

The possibility of a merger was mentioned in the railroad's annual report.

While both revenues and earnings declined in 1960, the road noted a 40 per cent increase in piggyback shipments, an increase in export-import business and a small rise in passenger revenues. Suburban Chicago passenger revenues decreased 1 per cent to $3,779,558, but the company was able to pare costs and show a profit of $112,713 on its commuter operations, the first profit "after years of deficits," the company said.

Mail revenues rose 14 per cent to $6,918,966 because of a 13 per cent increase in mail rates, effective last September 1, and additional mail traffic gained through piggyback service.

As previously reported, Illinois Central earned $11,092,742, or $3.56 a common share, in 1960, on revenues of $26,024,639. This was down from net of $15,039,743, or $4.83 a common share, on revenue of $271,652,340 a year earlier.

While the St. Lawrence Seaway "has had no appreciable effect" on foreign traffic, export-import shipments rose to 180,000 cars with revenue of $37.8 million, up from 174,000 cars and $36.5 million for 1959, the report stated.

Despite a rise in wages and other costs, the road was able to reduce operating costs by about 1 per cent last year, the annual report said. Much of the reduction was achieved through cutting maintenance costs, the company added.

JAYCEES FINISH PROJECT

Four thousand Kentucky Jaycees have completed a "highly successful" campaign to tell the story of Kentucky to Midwest, according to Kentucky Jaycee Tourist Committee chairman Jud Edwards. "Explore Kentucky Week," May 8-13, marked the opening of the tourist season in Kentucky.

New floral clock at Frankfort yields coins by the shovel-full as visitors use reflecting pool for wishing well.

Clinton Garment Factory Closes; New Industry Sought For Premises

The Clinton Garment Manufacturing Company has ended its operation under the present owners but production may resume soon, said Joe Johnson president of the Clinton Development Foundation.

The plant, which employs about 375 during peak production, manufactures heavy jackets. It has been closed about two months.

Johnson said production had always slackened off between January and April causing layoffs and sometimes a cessation of operation but the plant was expected to reopen May 1.

He said A. Berlin and Son, owners of the company, will not reopen the factory. Three brothers—Leonard, Richard and Irvine Berlin—were the owners. They were originally from New York.

Johnson said the foundation has contact with some firms in St. Louis, Chicago and New York.

He said the date of reopening is uncertain as there must be a sale agreement. Johnson, a banker, said, "We would like to reopen in a week or two."

ANSWERS TO YOUR TAX QUESTIONS

BY WILLIAM E. SCENT

KENTUCKY'S COMMISSIONER OF REVENUE

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest from former servicemen and their families:

Q.—Those receiving nonservice-connected pension payments from the VA are asked each year to report on their income. What happens if they fail to make this report?

A.—The VA must stop pension payments to those who fail to return the annual income questionnaire. Since the law requires that pensions not be paid to those with outside income over certain limitations, the VA must know the recipient's income to determine pension eligibility.

Q.—How many veterans of our Indian Wars are still living? How many Spanish-American War veterans?

A.—VA records show 39 persons (average age 90) receiving benefits as Indian War veterans. There are about 35,000 Spanish-American War veterans still living.

Q.—Have any of the various bills to re-open GI life insurance to lapsed veterans been passed by Congress?

A.—No. Although several bills with this as aim have been introduced, none have received Congressional approval.

Q.—Are the doctors and nurses at VA hospitals members of the different branches of military services?

A.—No. The VA's doctors and nurses are civilians. Of course, they may belong to reserve units or even attend organized drills or training periods. But they are civilians in their capacities as VA employees.

(Veterans living in or near Fulton who wish further help about their various benefits should write or visit the VA Office at 1405 W. Broadway Louisville 3, Ky.)

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

As the summer breezes begin to blow and the days get longer, the rush of college students home for the summer holidays also begins. There are already many, many students back in Fulton from the University of Kentucky, Murray State College and various other colleges and universities scattered throughout the nation. Others will be arriving this weekend from the University of Tennessee and UTMB and still others will be coming in next week.

A few are leaving again for vacation trips or work in other cities, but most will remain here in town this summer and once again take part in all of the various activities going on in the area. To these we extend a welcome and we hope that they will enjoy their summer of rest before they return to their college "homes" once again in the fall.

Brilliant colors of blues, greens and golds filled the stage at Carr Auditorium Monday night as Rosemary Peterson presented her students from the Rosemary Peterson School of Dance in their annual dance revue, "Varieties of 1961". Students from Fulton, Union City and Mayfield performed in the revue.

Also performing were Lyndia Nicks, Joan Crawford, Sally Pirtle, Pamela Whitlock, Carolyn Allen, Gail Bushart, Debbie Land Butler, Debbie Blakemore, Kathy Freeman, Debbie Benton, Susan Simpson, Debbie Smith, Jill Sterling, Vicki Ashley, Ruth Ann Ronney, Frances Williams, Cathy Campbell, Becky Reynolds, Beverly Bizzle, Patricia Elliott, Joy Jobe, Martha Poe, Roma Foster, Joyce Forehand, Pamela King, Becky Reviere, Vicki Crutcher, Nancy Lovelace, Paula Neiling, Gwen Garner, Alex Sepulveda, Letha Botts and Suzie White.

The South Fulton High School Cafeteria will be the scene Tuesday, June 13 at 6:00 p. m., for the Illinois Central Safety Rally and Barbecue. All IC employees and their families are invited to attend. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Mary Alice Coleman.

The President's Safety Trophy, which is being awarded to the St. Louis Division for their 1960 Safety Program, will be on display. A film, "Miracle of Paradise Valley", will also be shown.

Fulton's golf team is now leading in the Tri-State Ladies Golf Association team play. The Fulton team, composed of Betty Vowell, Virginia Rogers, Jewell Myatt and Sue Moore, took the top honors at the team play in Fulton last week.

The play, held at the Fulton Country Club, attracted twenty three golfers from six of the eight member clubs.

The South Fulton Representative at Girls State in Murfreesboro this week is Miss Judy Faye Gatewood, 16, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Rushing of Dukedom.

She will be one of 350 Tennessee girls to attend the Girls State meetings.

The alternate chosen was Miss Marolyn Jane Williamson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Williamson of South Fulton.

Fulton has been a livelier and happier place these past several days because Ruth Wade Askew is paying a long anticipated visit to her home-town from Whittier, California. Ruth's visit here has given her many friends and family an opportunity to show how glad they are to see her after an absence of eight years and everybody agrees that's just too long to stay away. But California is a mighty long way from Fulton and besides Ruth has some growing family ties out in the beautiful West that keep the home fires burning.

Ruth arrived in St. Louis last Monday a week ago and was met there by her Fulton sisters Florence Beadles, Irene White and Elizabeth Caldwell. Elizabeth commented to your diarist that it was the shortest trip from St. Louis to Fulton she ever witnessed and no wonder. An unusually close knit family, the Wade girls, as we have heard them fondly called all these years, had eight years of conversation and family talk to catch up on and we imagine that the trip home was only the beginning.

The luncheon at the Gilson Latta home was a gay time for the guests and honoree, Ruth Wade Askew of Whittier, California. Having a wonderful visit for the first time in eight years the "Wade sisters" are pictured at left. They are seated Mrs. Harvey Caldwell and Mrs. Askew. Standing Mrs. Frank Beadles and Mrs. Bob White. Out-of-town guests at the party and having fun were Mrs. Grace Butler of Ponca City, Okla. Mrs. Charles Murphy of Memphis and Mrs. Bob Butler of Kansas City.

Ruth's arrival in Fulton was the beginning of a delightful series of get-togethers with her old friends. Last Wednesday Mary Nelle Wright, Montez Baird, Ruby McDade and Mary Swann Bushart entertained at a luncheon at the Derby and on Thursday Ruth and family went to Jackson, Tenn., for a visit with relatives. Friday Clarice Thorpe extended the "welcome home" hospitality to Ruth at a luncheon.

Saturday afternoon Irene Boyd had a foursome in for bridge and Monday morning Sara Bushart and Lois Haws entertained with a breakfast at the Derby. Monday at noon Mr. and Mrs. Guy Duley were the host and hostess to Ruth and others at lunch at the Derby. On Tuesday Elva Fall had another "old friends" luncheon at her lovely home on Third Street. Wednesday the Gilson Latta home on Third was the scene of another luncheon when Mary Latta, Louise Killebrew and Ann Holland entertained in Ruth's honor.

Friday Mrs. Horace Owens will honor Ruth with a luncheon in Paducah and as Sunday nears the happiness of the past two weeks will be marred by the fact that Ruth must wend her way homeward. Out California-way however, Ruth has waiting some eager people wanting to hear the news from dear old Fulton. Ruth's daughter Barbara Pendergrast, who has visited here, lives in Anaheim, California with her family. And in Whittier Ruth's son Wade and his family and Jack Snow and his family will be eagerly awaiting the news of every happy moment Ruth spent in Fulton.

And of course Lillian Blagg and young Bryon also live in Whittier and they, too will be eagerly waiting the full report from Fulton.

Four Fulton Countians To Attend Meet Of Homemakers At Murray

Four Future Homemakers of America members from Fulton county will be among the approximately 50 FHA members and advisers attending the 16th annual meeting of the Future Homemakers of America to be held on Murray State College campus, June 6-8.

Misses Lynn Bushart and Scarlett Turner and Tobie Rambo and Ann Marshall are among those attending. Miss Bushart will receive her State degree at the meeting.

Mr. Romaine Smith, Youngfolks Editor of the Progressive Farmer Magazine will speak at the Wednesday morning session. Delegates will participate in group discussions following the talk.

The Honorable Bert T. Combs, Governor of Kentucky, will talk on "Teen-Agers as Citizens" at the afternoon session. Following this session delegates will be guests at an open house to be held in the Murray College home economics department.

In Fulton county there are 2 chapters and 157 members. Membership in FHA is limited to girls who are taking or have taken home economics in Junior or Senior High School. The organization is sponsored by the Vocational Home Economics Division of the State Department of Education. Miss Mary Bell Vaughan of that Department serves as State Adviser.

Young Anglers Come Away With Prizes And Fish At Fishing Rodeo

The Championship Trophy in the second annual Jaycee-Pepsi Junior Fishing Rodeo went to James Bell, 10, who caught a grand total of 42 fish. The rodeo, held at the Pepsi lake last Saturday afternoon, attracted approximately 200 of the twin-cities' youngest fishermen and they pulled more than 1600 fish from the lake in about two hours.

Other winners were Mike Fenwick, Terry Dallas, Chip Crocker, Sid Allen, John Ragsdale, Gary Steves, Jimmy Barber, David Moss, Tina Jolley, Glenn Fly, a reward for the hazards of the day before, but we had to come home and go back to Hickman Sunday night for the presentation of the diplomas. That too, is something that will live with us as I am sure the similar event will live with you.

But the crowning feature of the whole sentimental event came after the ceremony and all of us were standing on the church steps. Paul and I wanted to have a picture of R. Paul in his cap and gown and that was a lost cause. The young fellow was so heartbroken about leaving his teachers and friends that he joined with all of them in one, good, hearty cry. We had to have the picture so we took it, but I should imagine that when he flips back through the pages of time and his scrapbook he's going to wonder why he looked so much like Gloomy Gus with the seven-year itch.

And congratulations to all the graduates everywhere.

Ralph Ray, Paula Howard, Marta Moon, Ed Engel, Philip Smith, Jimmy Brann, Kay Green, David Forrest, Lynn Williams, Steve Fry, Danny Bondurant, Gary Parker, Debbie Thompson, Paul Phelps, Kathy Owens and Jimmy Powell.

The Jaycees and the Pepsi-Cola Company wish to express their appreciation to everyone who helped make the rodeo a success. The project chairmen in charge of the rodeo were Carnell Rowland and John R. Lawson.

Tiny Tot Revue Is This Friday; Two Classes Set

All entries are in for the second annual Tiny Tot Revue to be held June 2 at Carr Auditorium beginning at 7:30 p. m. There will be two divisions for 2-4 year olds and for 5-6 years olds.

The participants in the first division will enter the stage in groups and remain there long enough for the judges to make their decisions on the finalists.

The second division entries will parade across the stage in pairs and will be judged at that time.

There will be a rehearsal for contestants between the ages of 5 through 6 on Thursday evening at 5:30 P. M. If at all possible the Jayceettes would like to have every child in this age group present for this rehearsal.

The winners of last year's revue will be on hand to give the gifts to the new Kings and Queens. These winners were: Division I (2 through 4): Beverly Ann Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Brown and William Joseph Fortner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fortner.

Division II (5 and 6): Shella Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harrison and Mike Hagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hagan.

Division III (7 and 8) Kathy Jo King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jo King and David Puckett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Puckett.

Fultonians Witness Medical Miracle In New Techniques For Operations

Mr. and Mrs. Kellie Lowe Jr. attended the April 28th meeting of the Institute of Radio Engineers, group on Bio-Medical electronics, in the Pathology Laboratory of the University of Tennessee in Memphis last Friday.

Dr. Charles D. Ray, a prominent neurosurgeon made preliminary remarks and then demonstrated to the group his pilot model of a machine which, it is hoped, can induce a state of "artificial hibernation" during brain surgery. He stated that experimental dogs had remained on the operating table with blood circulation, heartbeat, and breathing stopped for periods up to one hour, and then revived to normal life. During this period the animal was actually "clinically dead".

The machine operates by taking over some of the functions of the heart and lungs, as well as cooling the blood gradually until the body reaches a dormant state where the body processes are so slowed as to enable a surgeon to completely stop circulation for periods of time. Thus, enabling heretofore impossible operations in the brain. Particularly benefitted, will be patients with dangerously weakened blood vessels or tumors in the brain area.

Dr. Ray stated that the first operation on a human patient probably will be made within the next six weeks.

The Lowes were accompanied by Nelson Shankle and Miss Ann Caldwell. Both Mr. Lowe and Mr. Shankle are studying pre-medicine at the University of Tennessee in Martin.

To The Voters of Fulton County

I wish to take this means of expressing my appreciation to all my friends who supported me in the recent election. I lost the race but won many friends.

I appreciate all of you very much.

Sincerely,

John E. Cruce

To The Voters Of Fulton County

I have tried, but failed to find words to express to you how humble and grateful I am to each of you, for your support.

Let me say "Thanks" for your support and confidence, and I pledge to you my every effort to make you a competent and efficient county court clerk, and if I can ever be of service to you, don't fail to call on me.

Also I want to say thanks for a clean campaign to my two most worthy opponents.

My wife, Mary Eva, and sons, Larry Dee and Timothy, join me in expressing sincere thanks to you.

God Bless each and every one of you.

Your Sincerely Grateful Friend,

ALVIE (DEE) LANGFORD

Industrial Arts Tour Takes Boys On Information Trip To Area Shops

The Industrial Arts class of Fulton High School left Friday, April 28, for a field trip to several of the nearby shops.

Those making the trip were John Mann, Don French, Jimmy Williams, Jerry Laceywell, Carl Arrington, Tommy Harwood, Tom Germain, Mitch Mitchell, John Shephard, Jerry Johnson, Terry Beadles, Teddy Barclay, Joe Mac Williamson, Joe Bennett and the Industrial Arts teacher, Mr. Robertson.

Their first visit was to the Kings Specialty Company in Mayfield. There they toured the different sections of the building where they were shown the assembly line, upholstery department, and kiln dryer.

The next stop was Murray State College in Murray, Kentucky. After a few minutes of free time, a tour was made of the industrial arts shop there. At the time, no classes were being held, but two of the college students gave interesting talks on a plastic project.

After eating, the boys observed a general shop class, which was working with metals. The instructor then showed several of the finished projects. Next, two boys made a mold of an ashtray and paperweight.

Murray High School was the next shop visited. The new building there is divided into four sections: woodworking, metal, electricity, and finishing. It also has a new building and a machinery division of arts. Here the 15 visitors did not see very much because most projects were finished.

Back again to Murray State College for their final observation, the class saw an interesting woodworking class.

As was reported, the boys said that many of the projects were similar to theirs but there were still more new projects that were very rare and interesting.

Judy Burton Honored As Murray Freshman

Miss Judy Burton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burton of Highlands, has been honored by the Woman's Athletic Association at Murray State College. She was chosen by the group to receive the Outstanding Freshman Award at their annual banquet.

She was also installed as secretary and treasurer of the WAA at the banquet.

WHO NAMED LEXINGTON?

By the light of a camp fire in Maxwell Woods (now known as the University of Kentucky campus,) John Maxwell and other pioneers heard the story of the "Battle Lexington" and gave the Kentucky settlement its name.

Down on the Farm

Agricultural Agent, Illinois Central Railroad

BE WISE SHOP FOR THE SEED TAG

If you want high yields, you must have good stands of grass and legumes and these good stands only come from high quality seed. When buying seed, have you ever looked at the seed tag? Do you consider price a major factor when making a seed purchase? These are important questions and all too often play an important role in farm seeding.

The seed tag tells at a glance the purity, germination, inert matter, hard seed, weed seed as well as the price. It is impossible to judge seed by looking into the bag. You will be able to find some impurities and maybe weed seed, but you cannot tell the percentage or germination. Testing is the only way to know exactly the quality seed you are buying. Let's take a case where a prospective seed buyer was bargain hunting for his pasture seed. He finds a lot of seed in the store that was 10 cents per pound cheaper and the seed tag said only 3 noxious weed seed per ounce. That doesn't seem like too many and besides they could be cut out with a hoe as they came up. Well, look into the case a little farther and see. With 3 noxious seed per ounce would be 48 per pound and with a seeding of 20 pounds seed per acre would mean that there would be 960 noxious weed seed planted on every acre of this new pasture. All this for a saving of $2.00, per acre.

Some farmers for convenience, like to buy seed from their neighbors. Certainly it is nice to be neighborly, but to protect yourself, send a sample to the seed testing laboratory. Another way to help insure better quality is to reclean the seed before sowing. Buying weed free seed will keep you from reinfesting fields with weeds and noxious plants. By selecting approved varieties you will get better stands, thus higher yields more production per cow or sheep and in the end increased profits.

The first step in the success of a good pasture is having enough moisture and plant food for the young pasture. You can't do much about the moisture however a soil test will tell you what plant food the new crop will need. Then if you have prepared the soil well and selected the variety best suited for your location, you have made a fine start toward a productive pasture or crop.

• DUKEDOM ROUTE 1 By Constance Jones

Many from this route attended the Homecoming at Good Springs Church last Sunday. Everyone enjoyed the day with a good sermon by the pastor, good dinner and fine singing in the afternoon.

Mrs. Jotie Webb spent the day Wednesday with Mrs. Coy Harrison and had a fine day.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Boyd of Sedalia, Kentucky visited Miss Constance Jones and she went home with them for a visit and also visited Mrs. O. P. McClain of Mayfield and reported a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Cunningham had as their guest, their son Stover Cunningham and family.

The people of this community were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Lula Doran of near Martin, but who had lived on this route. All the friends extend sympathy to the family.

The friends of Mrs. Ronald Hedge are glad to know she is doing fine and we hope she will soon be home.

Those who attended church at Walnut Grove Sunday night were Mr. and Mrs. Noble Melton, Miss Constance Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Matthews and Larry, also Mr. and Mrs. Almond McGurie. Bro. Keith Smith brought a good message.

We are having some fine weather now and the farmers are very busy.

Mrs. Annie Barham returned to her home in Fulton after visiting her son and family Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barham and Billy.

PRESIDENT SIGNS DIPLOMAS

Fulton High Announces Honors Lists, Monograms And Awards

Mike Walker, third-ranked senior at Fulton High School, opened the Twenty-eighth Annual Honor's Day Program at Fulton High last Friday morning at 9:30 a. m. After welcoming all of the students and visitors he turned the program over to Hal Warren, senior, and the awarding of the various honors was begun.

Hal, president of the National Honor Society, had charge of the initiation of the newly-elected members and presented them with their membership cards as Ophelia Speight, secretary, pinned on them the red rose, symbolic of NHS membership.

Following this, Tommy Carney, senior class president, began the process of awarding the coveted monograms to those students who had made the honor roll on two consecutive semesters during the past year. He presented the first and third monograms and Warren Nanney, junior class president, presented the second and fourth monograms.

First monograms went to the following: Elaine Beggs, Tena Bone, Brenda McKeel, seniors; Tom Germain, sophomore; Mary DeMyer, Carol Dunn, Carolinda Hales, Jo Ann Haman, Curtis Hancock, Mary Virginia Page, Judy Patton, Linda Warren and Freddie Wells, freshmen.

Second monograms were awarded to the following students: Carl Hurst and Mike Walker, seniors; Danny Carver, junior; Martha DeMyer, Sheri Elliot, Annie Lee Green, Beverly Haman, Josephine Hancock, Stanley Jeffress, Douglas McAllister, Barry Roper, Lynn Williamson, Mary Bondurant and Phyllis Pigue, all sophomores.

The third monograms were given to the following: Karen Dublin, Susan Stokes and Lynn Bushart, seniors; Clea Beggs, Wanda Cash, Bill Leneave, Kay Morris, Warren Nanney, Scarlet Turner, Linda Whitnel, and Jimmy Wright, all juniors.

Finally, the fourth monograms, signifying all four years on the honor roll, were given to the following: Thomas Carney, Chan Covington, Bobby Joe Hancock, Dortha Duke, Ophelia Speight and Hal Warren, all seniors.

Following the presentation of the monograms, Superintendent W. L. Holland announced the winner of the Greatest Scholastic Improvement Award. This award is the most highly prized of any that can be given at FHS. It is determined by the point standing of each student over the previous year. The winner this year was Jimmy Williams, a senior boy with a point improvement of nine.

The new Quill and Scroll members that have been elected by the local chapter throughout the year, were officially initiated into the organization by Judy Moore, vice president of the journalistic fraternity. There were nine new members who received their pins and membership cards.

Mrs. C. R. Bennett, Fulton High English teacher and senior sponsor, presented the Enoch Grehan Memorial Certificate to Karen Dublin, editor of the FHS paper, the KENNEL. This certificate is awarded yearly by the Kentucky High School Press Association and the University of Kentucky to outstanding high school journalists throughout the state and this was the first time that a Fulton High student has won this award. Miss Chan Covington, second vice president of the Future Homemakers of America presented the F. H. A. degrees to the following girls: Cathy Campbell, Mary DeMyer, Jo Ann Haman, Martha Kay Hemphill, Betty Hopkins, Ida Carol Niles, Kerry Overby, Mary Virginia Page, Judy Patton, Phyllis Robertson, Linda Warren and Lydia Wright, all winners of Junior Degrees.

She also presented Chapter Degrees to the following people: Wilma Kay Bennett, Glenda Clark, Dana Davis, Martha DeMyer, Annie Lee Green, Louretta Motley, Judy Moore, Jacqueline Patton and Rita Thompson.

Lynn Bushart, senior, has been notified that she has been approved for a State Degree and will receive it at the State meeting in June.

Principal J. M. Martin then presented several awards including the Fulton High Awards. In order to receive this award, a student must compile four points through monograms, athletic participation or membership in scouting or campus organizations.

Those who received the Fulton High Awards this year were: Bill

Burnette, Thomas Carney, Karen Dublin, Bobby Joe Hancock, Carl Hurst, Charles Rice, Mike Walker and Hal Warren, all seniors; Danny Carver, Wanda Cash, Bill Leneave, Kay Morris, Scarlet Turner, and Linda Whitnel, juniors; Don Burnette, Martha DeMyer, Annie Lee Green, sophomores.

The Library Award, presented to a student librarian who has done the most to further the FHS library, was given this year to Elaine Beggs, senior.

Conservation awards were given to several boys, including Jimmy Green, senior, who made a perfect score on a recent marksmanship contest and the track and golf letters were presented to those boys who had earned them this year.

Miss Mary Martin, FHS history teacher, presented the annual Scholastic Magazine Awards to Kay Morris and Jimmy Wright, both juniors. They had the highest average on the Scholastic Magazine Tests given at various times throughout the year.

Mr. William Robertson, industrial arts instructor, announced that Barry Bondurant, senior, had been selected as the outstanding industrial arts student for the year. He was awarded a plaque which will hang in the industrial arts building for one year.

After recognizing all of the achievements of the senior class during the past year, Supt. Holland presented several of the class with letters of commendation from the University of Kentucky for their high standing on the UK Placement Tests given here in January.

The program was closed by Rev. J. T. Daggett who gave the benediction.
